The Carmel Pine Cone

True Carmelites Like To See Stars

by Margot Hyatt

Individualist as he is, the true Carmelite likes natural beauty: pines, even though he has to drive around them; native shrubs which grow so thick he has to slow down at street corners; to be able to see the stars even though it means using a flashlight while walking; and the endless mutations of sunset, fog and storm. He may gripe about his taxes, but he is delighted by the increase in the value of his property over the years. He hates to see the commercial growth which would lower his school taxes.

"Everybody's somebody so stand up and be proud," is the way Kay Goines greets her kindergarteners at Carmel Woods School as she takes roll each morning.

"Here I am, Mrs. Goines," cries each child cheerfully as he pops up.

"A five-year-old must learn to like himself before he can appreciate others," says a wall sign addressed to mothers and teachers who come to watch demonstrations by this nationally known teacher.

A child learns so many important things in kindergarten: that he is an interesting individual who can talk unselfconsciously before a group; to listen and wait for his turn to talk; to follow directions; to recognize letters and their sounds in his name, and numbers in his telephone number, on the clock and calendar. He learns to share and not hurt anybody "on the outside or the inside." Rules, he learns, are "so everybody knows what to expect."

Moving to the first grade, "The clouds are little white mittens that the cats lost", wrote Kevin in the illustrated booklets describing sun, moon, and stars which Betty Roth's first and second graders at Woods School were assembling.

"The rainbow is a bridge with lots of colors going to candy land," wrote Kim, and Linda, "The sun is a golden scarf."

Later some of the children clamped on earphones as they listened to a story recorded on tape. Mrs. Roth said she was able to increase their reading speed by having them follow in their books.

I talked to Mrs. Anna Kohner, principal of both Woods and Carmelo schools, about this equipment which she said lends itself to almost any area of school work that a creative teacher can think of. A child can read a story to a tape recorder and later critique his own oral reading with the teacher. Tests can be recorded and taken by a child any time he is ready, allowing him to progress as fast as he is able. The whole class can listen to a tape-recorded lesson on any subject while the teacher works with an individual.

Headphone listening posts are also used with record players. Records, helpful for teaching math and literature, are available. "A record for a special purpose or hol-

This equipment is employed in almost any area of school work in combination with tape recordings and records, also is valuable for individual testing.

Carmel Fire Department Honors Veteran Member Jack Montgomery

At the annual awards dinner dance of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department on February 11, special honor was paid Jack Montgomery, a member of the department for 23 years.

Present at the affair in the Carmel American Legion Hall were Mayor Stephen Grant, Councilman and Fire Commissioner Eben Whittlesey, Councilman Gunnar Norberg and Councilman Herbert Blanks, with their wives; also Robert Leidig, former fire chief and marshal; another former fire chief, Vince Torras, and Mrs. Torras; a former engineer in the department and delegate to the California State Firemen's Association, Frank Hefling, and Mrs. Hefling; and Stan Clay, veteran fireman.

Inactive firemen with ten or more years service who attended the dinner were Ken Roberts, former fire captain; William L. Askew Jr., former lieutenant; and Harold Studevant, former fireman. Each was accompanied by his wife.

The Mayor, city councilmen and veteran members of the department gave brief talks as did, also, Fire Chief James R. Belvail, Battalion Chief James Kelsey and Sid Trevvett, chairman of the volunteer firemen's club.

Main event of the evening was the presentation of awards. Jack Montgomery, former captain in the department, was given a gold veteran's badge and a life membership in the California State Firemen's Association. Years of service gold tie clasp badges were given to Alex Gibson (25 years service); J. R. Belvail and Maurice Grimshaw (20 years); James Kelsey (15 years); Paul T. Artellan, Arthur Knowles, Jake May Jr., and Joseph Nicholson (10 years); Thomas Broadbent, Erik ensen, Lee B. McGuckin, Dr. Russell Pratt and Robert Updike (five years).

Master of ceremonies for the dinner-dance, also chairman, was Battalion Chief Kelsey. The food was prepared by Mrs. Marie Alderson.

The citation given Jack Montgomery for his service stated that he joined the department in 1940

'Planning And The Air Age'

Above is Dorothy von Meier, chairman of the Carmel Planning Commission, who was a moderator Saturday at the annual conference of the Monterey County Planning Council at Asilomar. The theme of conference speakers bore on goals of our five central counties and methods of accomplishing them.

Mrs. von Meier introduced Francis Whisler, A.I.A., a private planning consultant; Ned Rogoway, director of planning for San Luis Obispo County; and Donald Pollard, director of the planning branch of the federal government's Department of Housing and Urban Renewal. Pollard is seated above, with Mrs. von Meier. He said that applications for grants and loans through his office frequently demonstrated insufficient regional and local planning. This makes it necessary in some instances to refuse the funds or place them under the administration of high level government.

Keynote speaker was William Pereira whose accomplishments include designing the new Los Angeles Museum of Art Building, the Union Bank Centers in Pasadena and Fullerton, deveopment of the Irvine Ranch, the Los Angeles International Airport and Cape Kennedy. He was introduced by Manly Douglass, chairman of the Monterey County Planning Council.

Pereira's topic was "Planning And The Air Age", He said that the supersonic jet age is now with us and it will change the geographic locations of our industrial, tourist, agricultural, etc. centers as radically as did the innovation of slave galleys, sail, then steam boats, railroads, automobiles and the propeller plane. The 1,800 mile an hour speeds of the new long distance jets will create demand for faster short haul craft also. This will result in new vertical take-off equipment.

Pereira mentioned that among his projects is the development, within three years, of a Sky Crane Helicopter that can pick up an entire bus full of people, or a railroad car. The Sky Crane will travel at speeds of 300 to 500 mph. As he pointed out, this will have an impact on such perishable agricultural products as lettuce which is now being successfully grown in Africa. During the conference, Joseph Ansel of Monterey was elected to succeed Manly Douglas as chairman of the council. Ted Odell of Gonzales was elected vice chairman and Edward W. DeMars, secretary.

WEATHER

Cool but a little warmer trend. Temperature highs near 72, lows near 32. West to N.W. winds to 25 MPH. 70% probability of clear days.

Taxpayers Group Opposes Override

The 37 cent override tax increase in the Carmel Unified School District will be opposed by the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association, Harold Arnot, president announced today.

Commenting, Arnot said, "Carmel Unified School District has received substantial increases in tax revenues every year from increased assessments. Last year alone the $3,000,000 increase in assessed valuation gave the schools an additional $76,000, the equivalent of a 10 cent tax increase. The $5,000,000 assessment increase the year before yielded $125,000 of increased revenue, the equivalent of an 18 cent rise. The assessors are working right now in Carmel and Pebble Beach and reports from their office indicate that there will again be major assessment increases.

"Over 85 percent of the 106 school districts of Carmel's type and size in the state are able to educate their children at a lower cost per child than Carmel.

"The taxpayers association feels it is time for the Carmel Unified School District to begin basing budget requests on need, not desire, and to begin living within the substantial revenue increases it gets each year from increased assessments."

The 37 cent override tax proposal will also extend the existing 50 cent override tax until 1972, making the total override 87 cents until that year, Arnot points out.

Businessmen Ask For Clubhouse In Residential Zone

"Similar to the Old Capital Club" was the designation Rollo Payne gave planning commissioners yesterday afternoon during a public hearing on the request of the Carmel Club, a fraternal organization, for a use permit to occupy premises in the residence zone on the west side of Dolores between Fourth and Fifth avenues.

Payne added that the club is organized as a non-profit group with Clayton Neill Sr. as president. Members, he said, are mostly residents of 20 years standing who are engaged in business in Carmel. They have met mornings for coffee over a period of years and now would like to have a clubhouse for this purpose, also to meet in the same location on weekdays for lunch. Included in the membership, he said, are Ralph Castagna, Mark Raggett, Frank Putnam, J. O. Handley, Fred Hollenbeck, Ed Neroda, Steven Sassoon, Thomas K. Perry and Clayton Neill Jr.

Plans are to remodel a dwelling on the two-lot site at a cost of approximately $15,000, for use as a clubhouse. The premises would probably not be used after 3 p.m., he indicated.

"It will be a place to get away from our businesses Mondays through Fridays without tourists sitting in our laps," Payne concluded.

Mrs. Catherine E. Meehan, who lives at Fourth and Dolores, questioned the desirability of a clubhouse in the residence zone in respect to increased traffic in the area and preservation of trees. She ascertained from Payne that purchase of the property is subject to approval of the clubhouse in the residence zone.

"Why can't they buy in the business zone," she queried.

Ralph Parker, who resides on Fourth Avenue between Dolores and Lincoln, endorsed Mrs. Meehan's statement.

He added that he understood parking spaces were being rented at $15 a month on the property which the planning commission previously had not allowed to be used for public parking. Payne's mention that the premises would "probably" only be used during the day worried him."

"One learns such clubs are used nights and weekends. This is a

Sanitary District To Replace Sewers

At the February 7 meeting of the Carmel Sanitary District board of directors, it was decided to undertake replacing of sewer lines on upper San Carlos and north San Antonio streets, also a portion of Carmel Point. Preliminary steps were taken to annex to the sanitary district 13 acres (Carmel Rancho No. 2). This area is adjacent to the present Carmel Rancho shopping center at the entrance to Carmel Valley.

Max Drewien, superintendent of the district's sanitary plant, reported that new chlorination machinery to replace the system now in operation will soon arrive at the plant. Following arrival of the machinery, it will take approximately six weeks to assemble. A standby system will be used during the time the new equipment is being installed.

We were two on the isle (Manhattan, that is) as we braved last week's blizzard (frankly, New York left us cold) to sample the Broadway season (8 shows in 6 days) and confer with the powers who hold production rights. If some of the comedies failed to stick to our ribs, they at least tickled them mightily and Studio audiences will be seeing them promply upon their release. Meanwhile, come enjoy "Catch Me If You Can," the delicious mystery-comedy on view right now at the Studio. Its stupefying ending defies detection and it's pretty funny besides. It comes with our excellent dinner for $5.50 ($2 less than an orchestra seat on Broadway) or $2.75 for show only. Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights.

Meet Ralph Frey, Jr., 19
He's a college junior.
He can read 3,000 words a minute.
He is not skimming.

Watching Ralph's hand fly over the pages (his hand acts as a pacer), you can't believe that he's actually reading. He must be skimming.

But he's not.

Ralph Frey can read the average novel in a little under 40 minutes. Once, while standing in a bookstore, he read three complete novels before he was asked to leave.

He studies between 1,500 to 2,000 words a minute, and rarely dips below 1,000 wpm, even on the toughest material.

Most significantly, however, is that he can comprehend and recall what he's read—right down to the details.

Ralph Frey is not a mental freak. Nor is he a naturally fast reader. He learned this revolutionary technique of rapid reading at the Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics Institute. He is one of more than 17,000 graduates in Northern California.

Ralph was one of our better students. He started the course at about 400 words a minute and increased his rate 8 times. Our average student begins at about 300 words a minute and works up to speeds over 1,500 words a minute.

You can do this, too!

"Reading dynamically," says Ralph, "means that I can cover both the required and the suggested reading for a course during the first month of the semester. That leaves time for more extracurricular activities. On the weekend before an exam, I've reread several complete texts."

You may not learn to read quite as fast as Ralph Frey (and then again you might!), but the nationally known Reading Dynamics Institute guarantees that you'll at least triple your reading efficiency—or receive a full tuition refund. Reading efficiency combines rate and comprehension, not speed alone.

The technique of dynamic reading was discovered by a Utah schoolteacher.

Evelyn Wood first observed dynamic reading 18 years ago when a university professor read her term paper at an amazing 6,000 words a minute.

Mrs. Wood's curiosity caused her to look for other exceptional readers, and over the next few years, she found 50 people who could read faster than 1,500 words a minute, with fine comprehension, outstanding recall, and great reading satisfaction. She was now sure it was possible to read faster than anyone had thought, but the question of how was not yet answered. It took 8 years of toil and research, working with "natural" fast readers before she developed a technique whereby average students learn to read 3 to 10 times faster.

The first Reading Dynamics Institute was opened in Washington, D.C. in September, 1959. Since that time institutes have been opened in 63 cities throughout the country, and national enrollment for the course now tops 250,000.

No skimming techniques.

At a recent teacher training conference Mrs. Wood emphasized that dynamic reading is nothing like the skimming techniques commonly used in speed reading courses. "You read five times faster," she pointed out, "not by reading every fifth word, but by reading five times as many words in the same amount of time." Mrs. Wood emphasized that using her technique of rapid reading, every word on the page is read.

Money back guarantee

We guarantee to increase the reading efficiency of each student AT LEAST 3 times. We will refund the entire tuition to any student who, after completing minimum class and study requirements, does not at least triple his reading efficiency as measured by our beginning and ending tests. Reading efficiency combines rate and comprehension, not speed alone.

ENTERTAINED ENGLISH VISITORS

Mrs. George J. Faul of Carmel, wife of the president of Monterey Peninsula College, (left) entertained Sir Alec and Lady Douglas-Home on Saturday evening in the Fauls' home on Carmelo Street. Above she is talking to Will Shaw of Carmel, a guest at the Beach Club reception.

Famed Monterey Peninsula hospitality was extended to two distinguished British visitors last weekend. They were Sir Alec Douglas-Home, former Prime Minister of Great Britain, and his wife, Lady Douglas-Home. Sir Alec came to the Peninsula to lecture on Saturday night at Monterey Peninsula College on "Democracy: Is It Worth It?" His answer to this question was definitely affirmative. He stated continuance of the democratic form of government depended on education, public service and responsibility of individual citizens. The talk was arranged by Mrs. August Armanasco of Carmel on behalf of the College Association of Public Events and Services.

Social events for the Douglas-Homes' visit included a dinner Saturday night given by Dr. George J. Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College, and Mrs. Faul; a wild boar luncheon on Sunday given by Stuyvesant Fish at his home, Palo Corona Ranch; a reception on Sunday afternoon at the Beach Club at which Mrs. Armanasco and her husband introduced their guests to the English visitors. Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stanton of Carmel Valley gave a dinner party for Sir Alec and Lady Douglas-Home. On Monday,

DELIGHTFULLY SLIMMING DESSERTS

The most difficult thing about dieting is to stay with it. And for most of us it means doing without desserts. What can be done about this sad shape of affairs? With recipes using low calorie canned fruits, nectars and jams, the dieter easily can keep on the straight and narrow.

So why not try the Tom Sawyer trick and make dieting look like fun? Actually it is fun with the delectable desserts you can create from diversified low calorie canned fruits and nectars.

Take the feather-light and delicious Peach Mousse made from low calorie peaches, gelatine, sweetener and flavoring. You serve it with a colorful fruit sauce that's also kind to the waistline.

Peach Mousse with Fruit Sauce
(Serves 6)

One (16 oz.) can Diet Delight sliced cling peaches; 1 envelope unflavored gelatine; ½ tsp. artificial sweetener; 1 tsp. vanilla extract; 1 cup orange juice; ½ cup non-fat dry milk; ½ cup ice water; 2 tbsps. lemon juice.

To make mousse: Drain peaches; measure liquid and add enough water to measure ½ cup. In small saucepan, sprinkle gelatine over liquid mixture to soften. Stir over low heat until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat. Add sweetener, vanilla and orange juice. Mix well and refrigerate until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Dice drained peaches and stir into gelatine. With electric mixer or rotary beater beat dry milk powder with ice water until soft peaks form. Add lemon juice and beat until stiff. Fold in gelatine mixture. Turn into 1 quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold and serve with fruit sauce.

Fruit Sauce

One (8 oz.) can Diet Delight fruit cocktail; 1 tbsp. cornstarch; 1 tbsp. low calorie strawberry jam.

To make fruit sauce: Drain fruit cocktail; measure liquid and add enough water to measure 1 cup. In a small saucepan blend cornstarch with liquid mixture. Heat to boiling point and stir constantly. Remove from heat and stir in jam. Add drained fruits and chill thoroughly. Serve over Peach Mousse.

This contains 106 calories per portion. If made with regular ingredients, this dessert would contain 274 calories per portion.

The nectar in the following Pineapple Orange Mold contains less than half the calories of ordinary apricot nectar. Top with lwo calorie whipped cream; it makes a marvelous dessert fit for the fanciest party, or with Apricot Whipped Dressing, it's ideal as a super, but slenderizing, salad.

Pineapple Orange Mold
(Serves 6)

One (16 oz.) can Diet Delight pineapple slices; 2 envelopes unflavored gelatine; 2 tbsps. lemon juice; 1 (10 ½ oz.) can Diet Delight mandarin oranges; 1 (12 oz.) can Diet Delight apricot nectar.

Drain liquid from pineapple slices into saucepan: Sprinkle gelatine on liquid to soften. Place over low heat and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Stir in lemon juice. Drain mandarin oranges; reserve liquid. Reserve any remaining orange sections for garnish. Cover bottom of 1 quart mold with orange sections. Add 1/3 cup gelatine mixture to liquid from mandarin oranges and pour over oranges in mold. Chill until set. Cut pineapple slices in halves; arrange 6 halves around outside of mold over set gelatine. Reserve 2 tbsps. apricot nectar for dressing; add remaining nectar to remaining gelatine mixture. Pour nectar over set gelatine. Chill until set. Unmold; garnish with watercress, remaining pineapple rings and orange sections. Serve with Apricot Whipped Dressing.

"Let them eat cake," said Marie Antoinette. Now she could add, "and pies, meringues and mousses!"

Delicious delicacies such as these two desserts will make dieting a delight and turn you from tempted to temptress without your family or friends knowing the secret.

You'll have two weeks to get trim for the forthcoming International Night extravaganza on February 23 at 6:30 p.m. This time the Mark Thomas Inn will put on "Cherry Blossom Time in Kyoto" which will feature authentic Japanese wining, dining, decor and entertainment. A Light But Deliciously Slimming Dessert Is Peach Mousse

CUSD Trustees Ponder Summer School And Hot Lunch Program

An enthusiastic report from William Stone, Carmel High School art teacher, was given to Carmel school trustees on February 8 on the summer humanities program sponsored by EDINN last summer. He participated, along with Peter Lyon of Carmel, in the program at Cabrillo College, which was one of three in the tri-county area. He was chairman of a four-teacher team discussing history, art, music, English and literature.

Following his report, several members of the board expressed hope for such a summer program in Carmel. Dr. Harris A. Taylor, superintendent, stated, "Even if the override passes, we couldn't do it.

"A summer program ought to be a good one. We ought to know what we are offering and why. We ought to be hiring teachers now.

"The work load is tremendous because of the override. We will be two months late after March 7 on our planning for the next school year."

Dr. Newton felt that if some regular high school academic classes could be offered, it would free students during the year to take some of the arts and music courses.

Dr. Taylor said this was a possibility, as well as offering a drivers' training course.

The schools that serve the Class A lunch (hot lunch with milk) are all losing money reported the district's business manager, Walter Hinton. The deficit seems to be caused by lack of surplus commodities.

However, both Middle School and Carmel High School are making a profit on their hamburger and food vending operations. Hinton reported that he has always found the high school kitchen "very clean and the ladies prepare the food well."

The board granted permission for him to continue to explore central cooking and Trustee Dr. Hil-Bialek requested that Hinton look into cutting out all cooked lunches, adding, "The children at Carmelo get along fine." Carmelo is the one school in the district that has no hot lunch provisions.

"If we are going to have a hot lunch program it should be as efficient as possible," Dr. Taylor observed.

Dr. Toland Doud Heads Override Committee

The Carmel Unified School District board of education, on February 8, appointed a citizens' committee "to organize in behalf of the March 7 override election." At a preliminary meeting Dr. Toland Doud was chosen as chairman; Dr. Don Harrison Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. Sally Russell, secretary. Other members selected to serve are Robert Arenz, Frank Bresk, Markham Johnston, James Kramer, Dr. Howard McFann, Stuart Mitchell and Dr. Joseph Ward.

Concerning the override tax, Superintendent Dr. Harris A. Taylor stated, "Our policy has been to be as honest and forthright as we could be. If we see something that could be confusing I think we are obligated to bring it up."

A working paper passed to the audience and board stated, "In calculating the increased assessed valuation over the next five years we used a 5.5% increase yearly. It would be more accurate to state that we established the 5.5% yearly increase in assessed valuation based on the "trends" over the previous five years and not the "average" . . . The use of the word "average" instead of the word "trends" has caused some confusion."

"Originally it was stated that .90% was the historic tax collections rate for the past five-year period. We collect .976%," corrected Dr. Taylor.

Jay Criddle, counselor at the Middle School, reported to the board on tests given to the students this year and discussed the results of these. As in the past, they tested well above the national average, even in arithmetic fundamentals which was their weakest area.

Dan Yurkovich reported on NDEA matching grants for which the district is applying.

"We are going to be aggressive to get tax money back into the community," stressed Dr. Taylor.

Strapping on her ski boots this week will be Kay Wilson who left this Sunday for Germany. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Wilson, went to see her off at the San Francisco airport. Kay, who doesn't know how long she will stay in Europe, plans to get in all the skiing she can before making any other travel plans.

Other news from the Wilson family includes the fact that Kay's brother, Edward, and his wife, Randi, are living here now as he is in the Army at Fort Ord. Randi, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Court Randolph of Monterey Peninsula Country Club, is working for the Pacific Telephone Company while she and Ed await Army orders.

MPC "Man of the Year'

Sterling Phillips of Carmel has been selected as the "Man of the Year" at Monterey Peninsula College. He was chosen from a group of four other men by a panel of citizens composed of Mark Raggett of Carmel, Dan Kohn of Monterey and Vera Moffat of Pacific Grove. The Bank of America is the sponsor of the contest.

Phillips is a political science major and wants to go into teaching. He is now eligible to compete in the semi-finals against candidates from nine other colleges comprising "Area Six" and if successful there, to vie for the title of "California Junior College Man of the Year" at the Spring meeting of the California Junior College Association on February 28 at the College of San Mateo.

Cash awards from the Bank of America are $50 for each college winner, $50 for the area winner and $1,000 for each state winner with $100 for the state runner-up.

Phillips is 22 years old and comes from St. Louis, Missouri. He has been active at Monterey Peninsula College in leading discussion classes and chairing student forums on current political topics. He is also a teaching assistant at MPC and a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, national junior college honor society.

Doctoral Candidate

The Paul K. Hills of Carmel had a pleasant surprise last week when their daughter, Jennie-Keith, arrived home from snowbound Chicago to spend some time with her family.

Jennie, who was a 1960 honor graduate of Carmel High School, is the first member of her class to become a doctoral candidate in the field of anthropology. She has been attending Northwestern University on a fellowship granted her by that school.

Having passed her preliminary examinations for her doctorate, Jennie was a working on her thesis while in Carmel.

RADIO PROGRAMS

"Removing the Barriers which Divide Men" is the title of the radio program to be heard this Sunday on the regular Christian Science series "The Bible Speaks to You," at 8:45 a.m. over station KDON and station KGO at 7:30 a.m. The program will face up to the challenge of how to root out fear and prejudice from our lives in order to gain a better concept of brotherhood.

MRS. DAVID CASTAGNA

The former Wendy Anne Simpson of Sacramento, above, last Saturday became the bride of David Ralph Castagna, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Castagna of Carmel, at a service which took place in All Saints' Episcopal Church in Sacramento with Father Brooks officiating.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father, Norman H. Simpson. She was clad in a sheath dress of candlelight silk organza over bouquet taffeta with a chapel length train falling from the waistline. The bodice, elbow length sleeves and hemline of the gown were appliqued with seed pearls on re-embroidered lace. Her shoulder length English silk illusion veil was topped by a Queen Anne crown with seed pearl appliques. She carried a bouquet of white roses.

Wendy's maid of honor was Shirly Long of Sacramento and her bridesmaids were Susan Castagna, sister of the bridegroom, Arleen Cunningham of San Francisco, Mrs. Charles Anderson, a cousin of the bride from Huntington Beach, and Toni Richards of Sacramento. Their full length dresses were of rose crepe falling into a full train at the back. Matching Dior bows crowned their heads and they carried cascades of light pink rosebuds.

David's best man was Wayne Littleton of Oakdale and ushers were Joe Morford of San Francisco, Victor Bongard of New York, and Barry and Dennis Simpson, brothers of the bride, from Sacramento.

David, who graduated from the University of California at Berkeley, is a member of Lambda Chi fraternity and, until his marriage of the Bachelors of San Francisco also the Olympic Club and the New York Athletic Club. He and his wife are in the Hawaiian Islands for a two-week honeymoon after which they will make their home in Coral Gables, Florida, pending an assignment in South America.

'Welcome To The U.S.'

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Horan and their five children who returned last Saturday to Carmel were greeted at Monterey Airport by some of their many friends here on the Peninsula.

"Welcome to the United States," was inscribed on a banner carried by the group and it was a coincidence that Sir Alex Douglas-Home, former British Prime Minister, preceded the Horans off the plane. However the cheers of the Horans' friends were delayed until Larry and his family appeared.

"We are just so delighted to be back," said Mrs. Horan this week, "and the children are renewing old friendships and getting ready for school."

Mr. Horan and his family have been away for the past two and a half years while he has been with the Peace Corps. The whole family went with him to Costa Rica and then followed him to Colombia where he was the head of the corps in that country.

The Horans have rented the home of former State Senator Fred Farr and Mr. Horan plans to resume his law practice with the firm of Farr, Horan, Wilsdon and Lloyd here in town.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

STUDENT LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Nineteen schools from California will participate in the first annual student leadership conference for independent schools to be held on the Stevenson campus this weekend. The conference, sponsored by the student council, is to "promote a worthwhile exchange of ideas between students and improve the relationships among independent schools," according to RLS President Larry Kuechler.

Student and conference director is Will Haas, who has a staff of more than 25 students. The program includes a general meeting, several seminars and discussion panels, a dance sponsored by the Gnomes, and a "convention-like" wrap-up meeting to be held in Erdman Memorial Chapel.

Panel leaders include Joe Arsenio and Phil Fleming in public relations; student government with Larry Kuechler; finances with John Cann; conduct with Terry Talbot and Smith Dungan; while Claude Wynn will chair the projects group; plus several other seminars led by other schools.

The "keynote" address will be delivered by Arleigh Williams, dean of students at the University of California, Berkeley, at 10:15 a.m. on Saturday morning. RLS Headmaster, Robert U. Ricklefs, who is also president of the California Association of Independent Schools, will welcome the delegates.

Students serving on the accommodations committee and staffing the conference include Bruce Decker, Tom Sullivan, Tim Shea, Jim Merritt, Pete Stremmel, Mark Hornberger, Ken Dillon and Tom Gardner.

This is the first program of its kind in California, and unique to independent schools. The idea was developed and conceived by Larry Kuechler in conjunction with Mr. Ricklefs and the C.A.I.S. Other staff members giving special assistance include Ed Brown, dean of students, and Roger Reed, manager of the Saga Food staff that provides all the meals at Stevenson.

Local schools participating include Santa Catalina School for Girls and York School. The public is invited to observe any of the meetings or seminars. Times are available on request by calling the school.

SKI TEAM WINS

Returning from Squaw this weekend, the RLS Ski Team, under the management of Ed Brown, won the first ski meet of the year against San Rafael Military, Menlo Prep and Fleur de Lac. In individual events, George Saviers took second in slalom, while Howard Hickingbotham won honors by placing second in giant slalom. Others contributing to the team victory were Ken Dillon, Jim Schaeffler, Dave Basham, Gary Bechtel, David Dows and Josh Mack. The next meet will be on March 4, with the final meet sometime in late March or early April.

Non-team members also had a wonderful time at the school ski-week with only one broken bone, plenty of snowball fights, and all looking great with beautiful tans. Mr. and Mrs. Ricklefs joined the boys and many staff members in a most enjoyable week.

SPEECH TEAM SHOWS STYLE

Returning from the Claremont Men's Invitational held last week, the debate and the forensic teams both did exceptionally well against top teams in California. Joe Arsenio and Bob Howard took ninth in debate, with a superior rating in speech, while Jim Russell placed fourth in dramatic interp among 95 competitors, many of them already champions in their own leagues. The total team performance was the best of the four teams entered from the Pacific Forensic League.

BAZAAR LADIES WORKING HARD

March 11 is almost here, and the Sponsors' Club is working very hard to have a wonderful and exciting day for parents and guests at the annual festival, bazaar and auction. Mrs. Simard reports that many colorful quilts, both in wool and cotton, are already finished, while Mrs. Henry Huntington has advised that the raffle will include a color TV set, dinners at the Outrigger and Domenici's, and tennis lessons at the Del Monte courts. All in all, a most industrious group. You may join them in work sessions these last weeks on Tuesdays at the home of General Chairman and Sponsors Club President, Tom Hudson. Bring a sandwich.

AN UNUSUAL ART SHOW

Sculptures and paintings with tactile quality, including the work of a wood sculptor, Fred Todd (above), opened on Tuesday at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art gallery on Lincoln Street. Visitors are invited to feel the various works and visually handicapped persons are particularly asked to come to this exhibition.

Other artists whose work is included in this unusual show are Virginia and Alex Gonzales, Lois Steele, Liesel Wurzmann, Mary Buskirk, Virginia Conroy, Rada, Rudolph Marzi, Eve Tartar Brown, Gordon Newell, James Hunolt and Nong.

ROZIKA VITARIUS SCULPTURES

Above are two sculptures by Rozika Vitarius included in an exhibition of her work at the Monterey Neighborhood Center. Paintings and drawings by Virginia Conroy are on display concurrently during February.

Sculpture By Rozika Vitarius On Display At Neighborhood Center

by Pat Carey

Powerful, exciting sculpture and beautiful drawings are on display for the month of February at Monterey Neighborhood Center. They have been created by two women artists, Rozika Vitarious and Virginia Conroy (Mrs. Eldon Dedini.)

A newcomer to the Peninsula, Rozika Vitarius was born in Baja, Hungary. She has a teacher's credential from the archdiocesan teachers' training college there and studied drawing and painting with Gaspar Janos. Further studies took her to many countries—Belgium, Spain, Italy, and most particularly Paris, where after World War II, she studied sculpture with Madame Miryam Lacroisse.

In Belgium, Rozika Vitarius studied the Flemish masterpieces in the museums and churches of Antwerp, Brussels, Ghent, Bruges and Liege. Her marriage to the late distinguished Dr. Jules Vitarius took her to Caracas, Venezuela, where she discovered for herself the art treasures of South American Indian civilizations.

Rozika Vitarius' thorough training in chemistry resulted from her ownership and management of Farmacia Boyaca in El Conde, Caracas. This knowledge has created beautiful, orginal chemical finishes for her sculptures — mat yet rich —full of deep muted green, bronze and blue tones.

There is a strange, barbaric, yet extremely exciting quality about this artist's figures — a powerful rhythm and odd sense of timelessness that makes one think of pre-Christian civilizations—a long ago time of some forgotten era when life was simpler, deeper, stronger and more direct than it is now.

It is difficult to place the quality of Rozika Vitarius' work. It eludes easy definition and moves into something entirely its own—powerful, feminine, brooding, mystical, sensual, graceful—yet enormously strong and full of pulsing life-force.

She is a very important artist and a most welcome addition to the Monterey Peninsula. May she share her life and work with us for many years to come.

VIRGINIA CONROY

Virginia Conroy shows line and gouache drawings and fine paintings. One called "Wandlung" is this reviewer's favorite. It is a great, symbolic, allegorical painting with an enormous dark floating face, the eyes of which almost compel the viewer to lose himself in them.

The drawings are majestic and sophisticated. A pure, lyrical curious line describes the forms and personalities of the sitters. Delicate colors, tantalizingly applied, reinforce the line.

Virginia Conroy is a unique, highly individual artist. She is herself, and no one else, a woman who combines a solid lifetime of experience and experimentation with her own profound sense of beauty and deep meaning of life.

Stan Spohn, a Carmel artist, will be having an exhibit of his work shown at the Pebble Beach branch of the Crocker-Citizens Bank for the rest of this month. The paintings in this show are oils and watercolors with one portrait of a Sihk done in charcoal. Most of the paintings depict local scenes and many are of the coastline. There are seven paintings in all at this interesting showing.

A one-man show of oils by Bennett Bradbury, a marine-artist, will be shown at the Zantman Art Galleries on Sixth Street from February 23 until March 15. His marines are strongly composed impressions, stressing the abstract spacial relationship of sky, land and water. Upon this framework, develops color, texture and movement. The St. Louis and Cleveland museums have acquired his work, also private collectors including Count and Countess de Grazzi, the Shah of Iran, Huntington Hartford, Henry Kaiser, Paul Getty and Mrs. Helen du Pont. The Zantman Galleries are open daily from 11 a.m.-5 p.m.

An exhibit of paintings by Zyta Laky opens Saturday at the Laky Galleries, Ltd. on San Carlos Street between Fifth and Sixth avenues. The show will remain on the walls through March 3. An invitational preview of this one-man show will be given on Saturday.

Laurine Seguin, San Jose artist, is showing 15 paintings in Dooley Gallery through February 25.

Working predominantly in oil and in a few watercolors, Miss Seguin paints a world of fantasy, with surrealistic overtones at times, in a very low key. Her style is highly individualistic. Her paintings are frequently interlaced with textural detail, rhythmically combined with large, sweeping movements and bold design. With striking simplicity and subtlety, Miss Seguin's arrangements reflect a feeling of completion but the viewer is, at the same time, offered an opportunity for discovery.

Laurine Seguin has taught for many years in California and has, for the past ten years, been on the faculty of San Jose City College, where she now teaches art history and crafts, among other phases of the art program. She is an outstanding craftsman as well as a painter.

Dooley Gallery is located on San Carlos Street, through the Mall, and is open to the public daily from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sundays from 2-4 p.m.

WINNER AT HEART FUND PARTY

Left to right above are Mrs. Ted Huntington, Mr. Huntington and Miss Barbara Burdick, all of Pebble Beach. They were photographed at the February 11 Heart Fund benefit at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. Mr. Huntington was awarded first prize in the amateur hors d'oeuvres contest for his entry—Meat Balls Allo Fienchetto. The latter word means an unexpected move in chess and was included in the title of Huntington's tempting delicacy in honor of the forthcoming international chess tournament to be held March 18-19 in Monterey. Miss Burdick was in charge of the amateur division of the hors d'oeuvres contest. Second prize winner in the amateur contest was Andre Hope of Carmel. Another Carmel resident, Said Riza, placed third. Mrs. Rod Dewar of Pebble Beach took fourth place. The annual event is presented by the Montrey Peninsula Hotel Association as a benefit for the Central Mission Trails Heart Association.

The Complete Gardener

. . . a regular diet of information having to do with plants

A HEDGE IS PROTECTION

We are standing in the height of bare-root planting season and the nurseries are loaded with suggestions. Roses, fruit trees, ornamentals, berries, and let's not forget hedge plants. The primary purpose of a hedge is protection. It's a living, growing, substitute fence. It can be an enclosure, a windbreak, or privacy. It links the past with the present. There is something permanent about it.

Many kinds of plants can be used, and your selection should be functional. How much space can you spare and how tall is it going to be? The California Privet will grow as high as 15 feet, or you can keep it as low as 3 feet. Those who now have this hedge should be trimming it. The best form is like a barn roof, barely pointed at the top; narrower at the top than at the bottom so sunlight can reach the lower branches. This privet is evergreen and hardy. It's a native of Japan; a member of the Olive Family. It has no thorns and will grow dense if trimmed regularly.

Planting any hedge is only a matter of stretching a line from end to end and digging holes, evenly spaced, between. Privet plants should be a foot apart. Or you can dig a solid trench. Trim the roots slightly before putting them in the ground. Drop a planting tablet beside each plant and fill in the holes. Now raise the line to the height of the shortest plants and cut back the others, so they're all the same. In 3 months you'll have a border of shiny, green leaves. If you want something different, ask your nurseryman to show you other hedge plants. There are quite a few.

PLANTING FOR COLOR

(Primroses)

There is always a need for color in the February landscape, and our candidate to help this cause would be the Primrose. Also known as Primula, and first cousin to Cyclamen, this is a primary, or spring bloomer. It's a native of England and prefers cool, moist conditions. The nurseries are loaded with primoses of many colors already in bloom. They want good drainage in a bed of rich humus and a mulch that will keep the roots moist and cool. A semi-shady spot is perfect. Stir a little 0-10-10 into the humus mulch, along with a tablespoonful of hoof-and-horn meal, and your primroses will bloom on into the summer.

Primroses are popular, too, as outdoor potted plants. When planting in containers we must remember that the root area is restricted and lesser amounts of plant food are required. In fact, excessive feeding can damage or kill the plant. As a safety factor use a fortified potting soil and treat the primose as a house plant.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

Today, a trip to Point Lobos Reserve was led by John Dowdakin, regional forester of the State Division of Forestry. The trip with Dowdakin to Del Monte Forest was a highlight of last year and this one was equally interesting. Dowdakin is not only a well informed ecologist, but he presents his material in a most interesting way.

HACIENDA CARMEL

Dance Vignettes, a feature presentation of Luis Arnold and Teresita Osta of San Francisco, attracted many residents of Hacienda Carmel to Casa Fiesta on Saturday. As as appropriate accompaniment to the Spanish dances performed later, a special Spanish Dinner was featured in the Hacienda Carmel dining room.

Mrs. Ginnie Drew last week gave an illustrated talk—"Valley Journalist Reviews Soviet Scene"—to Hacienda Carmel residents in Casa Fiesta. Among the subjects covered was a visit to a Soviet retirement community.

Reuel (Bob) Sutton was winner of the Annual Putting Championship Tournament held February 1 and 2. He received a half dozen golf balls and the honor of having his name inscribed on the permanent trophy as winner for 1966. Runnerup was Mrs. Grace Carr. She was awarded a Couroc tray donated by Hubert Jenkinson. Each contestant received one golf ball for their efforts.

CANTERBURY WOODS

One evening this month at Canterbury Woods an authentic Hawaiian Luau will be held complete with traditional suckling pig. Everyone is excited about this affair which is creating a great deal of interest. Those who have visited the Hawaiian Islands will, no doubt, have a colorful mumuu in the confines of a trunk. The question in everyone's mind is WILL IT STILL FIT? Hawaiian dancers in native costumes will complete the fun-filled program.

PINPOINT PROFILES
Miss L. Lucile Turner
(Early Life On The Sur Coast)

Miss Lucile Turner, an ardent admirer of Carmel, came here in 1912 and built a vacation cottage. Later, in 1940, she came to live permanently in the village.

Speaking of the early days, she recalls, many years ago, there were large herds of sea otters that congregated in the waters off Big Sur and the Carmel coast. Poachers often came down from the San Francisco Bay area to hunt these beautiful little animals and sell their pelts for fabulous amounts of money. The Chinese were the biggest buyers and sent traders over from their country to bargain for these precious silky, soft skins.

Ships rode at anchor, three miles out, while hunters filled boats with the contraband bounty. The cargo was transported to San Francisco Bay where ships from China waited and the fur exchange was made. Steps have been taken, for many years, to protect these little sea creatures from the greed of unscrupulous traders.

In the old days in the big wide open spaces—down the coast—any person, man or woman, could file with the government to establish a farm. The word used was pre-emption and the person was known as a pre-emptor. Miss Turner says she remembers one woman who filed and took possession of 160 acres on which she lived for many years raising hogs and a large herd of goats.

Other settlers raised cattle. Some of the early families in this area were the Avilas, the Borondas, the Castros, the Lopez family, the Harlans, some of whom are still living at Lucia, and the Dani family. Mr. Dani was a trustee in the school where Miss Turner taught and she lived with this family while teaching downcoast her first year. Existence in the early days was not what you would call "easy living" but it was healthful and pleasant, according to her. Deer were most plentiful in the mountains and venison roasts and steaks made a satisfying change of food for the family.

Miss Turner and the children loved to ride—they all had their own horses. On one trip while exploring a lush canyon, they came upon a section well grown over with ferns and low brush. The spot was about 50 feet long and 30 feet wide.

"We came upon this secluded section and were amazed to find the ground and low bushes literally covered with ladybugs. They were orange, red and black variety.

"It made an exquisite array of color. There must have been millions of them, we realized they were hibernating for the winter. Some of them were moving about, but they were slow and sluggish. This was a sight I shall never forget," Miss Turner recalls.

She told us a story about an expert hunter, Mr. Avila. He was a man who understood the habits of the wild animals and never left the farm without his gun. But, as the old saying goes, "There is always a first time." One day he did leave his gun at home and suddenly, he came upon a mountain lion in a turn in the road. The frightened animal took to a tree. All Avila had with him was a lassoo. Seeing the lion had taken refuge on a large limb, he started cautiously to climb the tree and got to a higher limb above the lion. Then working carefully, he dropped his lassoo over its head. The lion brushed the rope off with his paw.

It took several attempts but Avila finally got the noose around the animal's neck and quickly tightened the rope.

The lion sensed he was trapped. In his frenzy, he jumped; thereby hanging himself and Avila collected a bounty.

Of course, this story could have had a much different ending. All we can advise young hunters is use guns when hunting, forget the lassoo!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE
The Psalmist sang: "Counsel in the heart of man is like deep water; but a man of understanding will draw it out." What man is he that does not desire to have this understanding!

The Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday on the subject "Mind," has been prepared to reveal the basis for better communications between men and nations.

One such citation from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, will be: "When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command: 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.'"

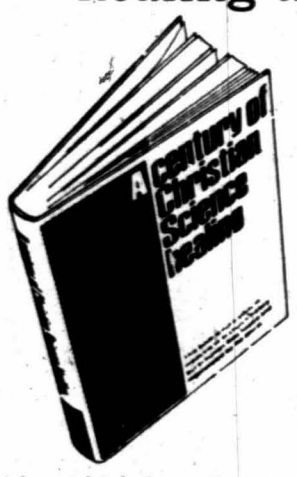
Documented in an inspiring new book
One hundred years of healing through prayer


This book presents an impressive record of authenticated cases of outstanding physical healings and spiritual regeneration through Christian prayer. It is a timely response to today's renewed interest in spiritual healing.
The reader will find many instances where the individuals who experienced the healings explain the spiritual awakening which brought about those healings. This book commemorates the Centennial of the discovery of Christian Science in 1866 by Mary Baker Eddy. It is offered in a spirit of sharing the hope and joy of ordinary lives deeply touched by the Christ.

SITE CLEARED FOR HOTEL

To make way for the start of resort-hotel construction at the entrance to Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, a landmark for over half a century was burned on February 3. Ed Haber, golf and country club developer, invited the Carmel and Carmel Valley fire departments, as a training project, to set fire to and destroy a house and barn formerly the property of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Williams. Protected from the flames was the tree seen in the background above, which as a seedling, was brought from the Santa Cruz Mountains by the Williamses when they returned from their honeymoon, and planted beside their first home. The tree will be incorporated into the hotel-resort plan designed by the architectural firm of Hall and Goodhue.

Service Area No. 43 Bylaws Not Adopted

The Mission Ranch banquet hall was the meeting place on February 7, of 27 residents of the unincorporated areas surrounding Carmel who had come to hear the first reading of the articles and by-laws to incorporate the areas under the name of Carmel Suburban Area No. 43. The meeting was called by John S. Coates, president of the two-year-old Carmel Suburban Area Council. Mrs. John S. Coates, secretary, read the drafts of the by-laws. There was discussion on a number of points and it was decided not to adopt them until corrections had been made and they were read in corrected form at the next meeting. This meeting will be held on March 7 unless a published special meeting is called.

Eligible to attend are those property owners of Carmel Point, Carmel Woods, Mission Tract, Walker Tract, Mission Fields, Carmel Hills and other subdivisions up Carmel Valley to include De la Mesa Carmel and Hacienda Carmel.

Spring Registration At MPC Totals 4,064

Early figures show that Monterey Peninsula College's combined day and evening students total 4,064 for the spring semester, according to a report made by Dean of Students John R. Blakemore to MPC's board of trustees last week.

The evening registration figure of 1,950 is a 15 percent rise over the fall semester's total of 1,658, Blakemore said.

The total number of day students—2,112—is a four percent drop from the fall registration total of 2,205 but a considerable increase over the Spring, 1966, figure of 1,793.

Blakemore also reported that the college has accepted 637 new day students—about a 40 percent increase over the 444 new day students who registered last spring.

4 BEDROOMS NEAR BEACH — $40,000

An ideal family home! Large bedrooms with plenty of closet space and built-ins. Huge, sunny patio with easy-care garden. All electric kitchen. Beamed-ceiling living room. Large family-dining room. Carpeted throughout. Near public and parochial elementary schools, in an excellent neighborhood with some, but not too many children. The house is on a quiet, dead-end street, about 3 blocks from the beach.

OCEAN VIEW ACRE LOT

In Rancho Mar Monte — convenient to ALL Peninsula Cities — we have a wooded hillside acre with a Point Lobos view. This delightful lot is not hard to build on and it's priced to sell at $19,500. Exclusive.

MISSION FIELDS — 3 BEDROOMS — LOW DOWN PAYMENT

In popular Mission Fields — clean 3 bedrooms, den, 2 baths, large fenced yard, at the end of a dead-end street. AND, best of all, it can be bought for 10% down, or less. Full price $29,850.

2300 SQUARE FEET — NEW — $43,000

With a good valley view, too. 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, large family room with fireplace, plenty of closet space. Very conveniently located for all schools. Immediate occupancy. $43,000.

OCEAN VIEW LOT — $9,750

IN CARMEL HIGHLANDS, and a magnificent ocean view it is, too. At $9,750 and an ocean view, there has to be a catch, which is that while the price isn't steep (for from it!) the lot definitely is. If you're from Marin County, it may seem like a gentle slope; if you're from Arizona it will seem like a cliff. While it's a difficult site, it's far from an impossible one. Really, it's good value.

A LOVELY OLD SPANISH HOME
IN THE DEL MONTE FOREST
OVERLOOKING THE OCEAN
AND THE DUNES COURSE 10-12 FAIRWAYS
AND THE VIEW IS NORTHWEST, SO YOU CAN ENJOY IT ALL DAY WITHOUT HAVING TO COPE WITH AFTERNOON GLARE FROM THE OCEAN.

Ideal for a large family or perfect to share with another family for golf weekends as there are 2 bedrooms, 2 baths in one wing and 2 smaller bedrooms with adjoining bath PLUS an upstairs "dormitory" with 2 baths in another wing.

The kitchen has 2 Thermador ovens, dishwasher, disposal, lots of storage, and there's a butler's pantry which would be a great breakfast room. The dining room could seat 12 easily.

In the living room, as throughout the house, there are carved doors, lovely millwork, heavy hand-hewn beams. A huge fireplace with a bar tucked away behind it makes entertaining easy. 3 car garage, too.

You might want to do some redecorating although the house has always had regular housekeeping service and a gardener's care of the beautiful grounds, so everything is already in fine shape. And as if their attractions were not enough, the rear landscaped lot could be sold off advantageously without in the least diminishing the charm of the house itself. Now the surprise: For this showplace property,

THE PRICE IS ONLY $85,000.

iday is only good at the time you need it," said Alice Powell who teaches one of the 3rd and 4th grades. "It is very difficult to time an order from the county or even the school library for just when you need it, if both the record player and the records have to be shared with several other rooms."

Mrs. Powell believes that a teacher should be friendly but firm, non-rigid but not over-permissive. She divides her class into four groups making assignments in several subjects and each student is expected to discipline himself as to how he allots his time. Actually the children are working at about nine different levels.

I noticed Science Research Associates kits of reading and word power building activities in every room I visited. These are helpful even with emotionally disturbed or highly sophisticated youngsters who would not respond to any other material. The Scott Foresman "Pictionery" aids children with spelling.

What about arithmetic? I found every technique imaginable from the lowly lima bean, the abacus, bundles of popsicle sticks to Cuisenaire rods to help children see and feel the relationships between numbers. These brightly colored rods, developed in England are made of wood in units of one to ten. Concepts of addition, substraction, multiplication, division, fractions, and even square root and power come to life.

The Mathematics Workshop for Children containing puzzles designed to make children figure things out, is used for enrichment purposes along with state texts. They take longer to correct, however, and each afternoon, a couple of high school students, Betty DeWitt and Susan Trapkus, serve as teacher aides for which they receive credit. "Children take responsibility for doing their own work," said Sally Russell, who has another 3rd and 4th grade class.

The main impression I get at Woods School is that the individual child is encouraged to progress at his own rate; that he is given a program which fosters wonder and appreciation of the natural beauty around us and the means to express it, in color, line, and words. Aids to learning are of great variety. Technical equipment is used but is in short supply. There are problems in building and grounds maintenance. Teachers are stimulating and sympathetic to the needs of the children as is their principal, Mrs. Kohner.

Parent morale at Carmel Woods School is high. Parents are happy to help keep the library open in the afternoons and aid in many other ways. They, too, are calling on neighbors to express their pride in the teachers and in the individualized program the school is trying to accomplish under the leadership of Superintendent Dr. Harris Taylor, and to point out needed repairs, replacements, equipment, library books, which will be covered by the tax override on March 7.

and retired in 1963. During this time, he progressed from fireman to engineer, paid engineer, lieutenant and safety captain. In the department's club he served as president for three years, was secretary for seven years, also filled all other club offices and was a committee chairman numerous times.

In addition to his work in the Carmel Volunteer Department, Montgomery served as president of the Central Coast Counties Firemen's Association, also as this organization's secretary for 17 years, as well as being on the board of directors for 20 years and filling every C.C.C.F.A. office.

Montgomery during his 23 years service to the Carmel department, served with the California State Firemen's Association as a deputy for 14 years; as a member of this group's motor vehicle advisory committee for ten years; on its magazine publication committee for four years; also on other committees.

Besides his work with fire fighting organizations, Montgomery was an American Red Cross first aid instructor and a member of the board of directors of the Carmel Red Cross chapter.

Carmel Man Heads Seminar Delegation

Jon Waycott of Tom Brown Insurance Associates of Carmel is leading a delegation of agents from this agency in a special seminar to the home office of the State Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis, Indiana. Fred Martin and Robert Waddell from the Fresno branch of Tom Brown Associates and Stephen Ruffo and Steven Scattini from the San Luis Obispo branch of Tom Brown Associates are also in attendance.

most regrettable use of an R-1 lot," he stressed.

Parker stated that he further understood that the club has 55 members and this would result in "a lot of parking." He also envisioned that over the years, the present membership, which Payne had stated consisted mostly of men 50 years old, might include younger men in the future and the clubhouse develop into "a lower Alvarado Street card room."

Chairman Dorothy von Meier referred the use permit request for study by the commission as a committee of the whole with a report to be given on March 15.

Reports also will be given on March 15 on three other public hearings yesterday afternoon. These are a use permit for a baptistry addition to the northeast corner of All Saints' Episcopal Church; a variance to allow a swimming pool playhouse for the Larry Hart property in the sand dunes at the north end of the beach; and a use permit, requested by Helen Mills Craviotto, to divide a 15,300 square foot parcel of land at Vizcaino and Flanders into three building sites.

The request for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, to rezone a lot in the residence zone, on Lincoln between Fifth and Sixth avenues, will be considered by the planning commission next week. Over 70 percent of the property owners in the area approve the rezoning. Secretary Hugh Bayless informed the commission.

Holiday Showing Of Free Travel Films

A free showing of the new films of Hawaii, the South Seas, Australia, and New Zealand, will be given in Sunset Center auditorium at 2 p.m. on Washington's Birthday.

George Gooden, America's outstanding classroom contract bridge teacher, will follow the films with a description of how contract bridge turns a ship's cruise into one continuous friendly holiday.

The showing is with the compliments of the Matson Navigation Company, Dick Phinney Tours and Travel, George and Eugenia Gooden, and Jack Daugherty.

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASES AND DECREASES FOR INTRASTATE TELEPHONE RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on February 10, 1967, filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application, numbered 49142, for authority to increase and decrease certain intrastate rates and charges applicable to telephone service furnished within the State of California. In general terms, the proposed increases and decreases are as follows:

Exchanges in the San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County extended areas would receive increases resulting from the application of a uniform set of basic exchange rates for residence and business service. The increases, on the average, amount to about $1.50 per month per main residence telephone and $3.50 per month per main business telephone. Message unit allowances would be standardized at 30 for 2-party line message rate residence service, with a decrease in the basic monthly charge for this service, and 85 for message rate business lines. The message unit charge would be increased from $.0405 to $.0485.

For exchanges located outside the San Francisco-East Bay, Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County extended areas, increases and decreases in basic exchange residence and business rates result from the application of an increased and graduated scale of rates based on the size of the exchange and whether or not extended area service is offered in the exchange. In most instances there would be an increase in rates which, on the average, would amount to about 50 cents per month per main residence telephone, and about $3.00 per month per main business telephone.

In all exchanges the service connection charge for residence would be increased from $8.50 to $10.00.

For directory advertising, increases would result from an increase in the number of circulation rate groups, a change in the method of determining circulation rate groups, and an increase in the level of rates within the new rate groups.

Key telephone rates would be increased. At the same time, rates for this service would be packaged and simplified. There are also increases in the rates for Centrex stations, a wide range of miscellaneous equipment services, intrastate private line channels, and certain features of public mobile telephone service.

Changes in various charges for certain toll private line IX 30 baud channels would decrease the rates for these services.

The total increases are estimated to amount to $181,356,000.

These increases are proposed to become effective upon grant of authority therefore by the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California and in various counties and municipal corporations therein, including the county of Monterey and the city of Carmel. The State of California and the counties and municipal corporations which may be interested in the application may obtain a copy thereof from the applicant upon request directed to:
